

Albany faces Piedmont for ACAL football title

By MIKE HALL I-G Sports Writer

Get out the history books. Check the records. For the first time since anyone can remember, Albany High is going to play for a league football championship.

The Cougars put themselves into the title picture Friday afternoon on their home field with a 30-14 trouncing of Alameda. Now 4-1 overall and 2-0 in Alameda County Athletic League action, the Cougars lead Piedmont in two weeks for the crown.

Not only did Albany set a recent record with the victory, quarterback Andrei Wallace probably smashed the school's passing mark with 276 yards on a remarkable 17 of 27 throwing day.

"It was his best game of the season," understated new head coach Phil Wanlin. "It's not a surprise, though, Andrei is a good quarterback. I remember saying when I took this job that we had a good quarterback and we were going to throw the ball."

Of course, at the same time Wanlin took the coaching post the Albany administration was protesting a North Coast Section ruling which put the school into the new ACAL. The argument was: Albany is too small to play schools like Alameda.

The complaint was overruled — no one seems to care right now.

While Wanlin knew his team was going to pass, he didn't exactly plan to put the ball up 27 times. "No, not in all games — but we did for this one," confessed the coach. "We had them well scouted. We knew we could throw the ball."

The Cougar mentor went on to term his receiving tandem of Greg Westphal and Warren Thomas "maybe the best in the league. Aw, what the heck, they are the best in the league."

Off yesterday's performance, no one could argue with Wanlin. Thomas hauled in seven aerials for 110 yards while Westphal snared five for 107.

Albany made good use of Westphal's talents to pile up a 23-6 halftime lead. The speedy little slotback took a counter 34 yards for the first Cougar points with three minutes remaining in the initial period. The kick failed.

On Alameda's sixth play of the ensuing drive, Mark Regan fumbled and Albany's Bob Flynn and John Heymans simultaneously recovered the errant pigskin.

Three plays later Wallace fired what appeared to be an Alley-Oop pass — the only problem being Westphal, at 5-7, was not R. C. Owens. Little difference it made. The Cougar jumped between two defenders, wrestled the ball away and fell in the end zone for the score.

"I didn't even get to see it," said Wallace of the pass which made the score 12-0. "Greg told me about it — he said he caught it." Wallace was a part-time QB last season, playing under Lyle Setenich's run-oriented system.

"I like this better," admitted the quarterback. "It's more fun — I like to throw. But the credit has to go to the coach."

Alameda came back to score on a 26-yard Pete Michaleto pass to Art Fuentes following an interception, but the Cougars did not panic.

With a first down at the Alameda 28, Wanlin sent Westphal streaking up the sidelines. After he sent the play in, the coach turned to an assistant and remarked, "This is a touchdown." Wrong.

Westphal was driven out on the three-yard line. Albany could not punch the ball over — a procedure penalty making the chore difficult. Instead, the Cougars pulled out

THOMAS TRIPPED — Albany receiver Warren Thomas was flipped into the air after a pass reception during Friday's 30-14 romp past Alameda. Thomas caught seven passes for 110 yards while quarterback Andrei Wallace threw for 276.

Park district seeks U.S. public works act money

Approval to seek $1,600,000 for eucalyptus control and another $277,370 to provide a classroom and picnic and day camp facilities on the old NIKE site above Lake Chabot was given last week by the East Bay Regional Park District Board of Directors.

The Park District applications join many others emanating from this area, since the federal Local Public Works Capital Development and Investment Program provides 100 percent funding of projects that would provide jobs in geographic areas where the unemployment rate is at least 6.5 percent for the past certifiable three months. The unemployment rate certified within EBRPD's two-county jurisdiction is 12.2 percent.

EBRPD Development Administrator Linda L. Chew told the Board that although there are many projects of interest and concern to EBRPD, the eucalyptus control and Lake Chabot projects most closely meet the criteria of this grant program.

She related that though Federal Disaster Assistance funds were used to remove some of the eucalyptus trees killed by the big 1972 frost, the funds did not provide for preventative stump treatment, and the new growth at the base of the eucalyptus stumps.

"By preventing the re-establishment of the forests, the problem of frost damage and subsequent wild fire potential will be minimized," Mrs. Chew said, adding that removal of eucalyptus, a species introduced from Australia, will promote the growth of native vegetation in accordance with the Park District Master Plan.

The $227,370 Lake Chabot project involves installation of a classroom building, parking, picnic facilities, a day camp area and rehabilitation of existing buildings to provide a vehicle maintenance facility for the southern end of the two-county Park District.

(Another part of this site is currently under development for a headquarters of EBRPD's police and fire forces.)

The much-sought funds were authorized earlier this month by President Ford and are administered by the Economic Development Administration, U.S. Department of Commerce, through its office in Seattle.

Vitality for seniors goal of SAGE project and grant

SAGE project (Senior Actualization and Growth Explorations) of Berkeley has recently been awarded a three year grant by the National Institute of Mental Health to continue their work with men and women sixty years and older for increased vitality and personal growth.

SAGE is a program to alter negative attitudes toward aging and demonstrate that people over 60 can grow and transcend the expectations of our culture, to discover that old age can and should be a rich, creative culmination, involving as much growth as early childhood.

The SAGE Project began in 1974 as an experimental program, the first of its kind. SAGE staff have worked with independent older people in the community, both privately and through churches, community centers, growth centers, residences, and universities, as well as with residents of homes for the aged, nursing homes, and hospitals.

In addition, SAGE holds regular workshops and seminars nationwide.

The SAGE program presents a variety of experiences in its weekly program which includes limbering exercises keyed to the older person, relaxation techniques, Yoga, Tai Chi, music, art, dance, meditation and personal-life discussions.

These "core" groups are open to older people who can provide their own transportation, who are physically able to get up and down from the floor and move about, and who can accept a weekly commitment over a period of six months for three to four hours per week, and agree to daily

Albany plans major crackdown on speeders

ALBANY — A "get tough" policy against speeders and other traffic violators will get teeth with the assignment of a veteran police officer full-time to issuing tickets.

The Albany City Council has authorized the hiring of a new officer at about $20,000 per year, despite a strained budget, freeing a senior officer for the new traffic job.

The action, considered for several weeks, was taken after a petition was received threatening a recall campaign against "city officials" if excessive speeding and accidents on Marin Avenue are not reduced.

Hiring of an additional officer was recommended by Police Chief James Simmons, as part of a "... selective concentrated enforcement program."

However, Simmons' report mentioned his belief that while traffic violations in the city are a problem, they are "... still not one of great proportion."

Simmons said Albany has the lowest accident rate in Alameda County according to a CHP report.

The petition threatening recall was signed by 165 local residents after circulation by Thomas McQuaid.

McQuaid's covering letter to the council mentioned traffic violations on Marin Avenue, from Curtis Street north to the city limits, also Peralta, Ordway, Ventura, Tulare and Sonoma.

McQuaid's letter said, "... Marin Avenue residents especially have suffered property damage and financial losses due to speeding vehicles crashing into properly parked cars in front of their homes."

The letter said the petition was not a criticism of Chief Simmons nor the police department, and added that "high praise" is due to local officers.

However, Robert Elliott, who circulated another petition collecting 300 signatures, objected to the exoneration of the police department.

Elliott said many of his petition signers preferred installation of new signals in preference to the ticketing campaign.

City Administrator James Turner commented that signalization of a single intersection can run $60,000 to $80,000 these days. He indicated that the city is seriously considering new signals for Marin Avenue at Masonic Avenue.

Council action, which had unanimous approval, calls for the traffic officer to be available for duty within several weeks, working a variable shift on all local streets where speeding and other violations are considered a problem.

It was indicated that although the speed limit on Marin Avenue is 25 mph, tickets will not be given unless a driver exceeds 30 mph since strict enforcement would involve ticketing most cars traveling that arterial street.

Although Simmons suggested a minimum one-year trial period, the council will evaluate results after six months, then review the matter again in a year.

It is expected that the additional fines will nearly pay for the cost of the additional officer.

Mrs. Belling honored, slides postponed

ALBANY — Beulah Belling, who resigned as director of the Albany Senior Center after 13 years, received a big surprise from the members last week.

Mrs. Belling was scheduled to present a slide show and lecture on her recent trip to Africa when the 65 senior center members surprised her with a celebration in her honor. She retired from the post last May.

The surprise came off like a charm.

Bud Rooney, superintendent of the Albany Parks and Recreation Department presented her a plaque thanking her for her service to the senior center.

Quoting from the engraving on the plaque, Rooney said "The City of Albany extends to Beulah Belling (its) sincere thanks for a job exceedingly well done."

The group also presented her with a portable tape recorder as a going away gift.

A large cake, decorated with roses and inscribed: "Best Wishes" made by Mrs. Nancy Rooney, was served at the luncheon that followed the ceremony and just before Mrs. Belling finally got to present her African slide show.

Veterans to get G.I. Bill addition

SAN FRANCISCO — Veterans enrolled in G. I. Bill training are eligible for up to an additional nine months training, R. F. Welch, director of the San Francisco Veterans Administration regional office here, said today.

The Veterans Education and Employment Assistance Act of 1976, signed into law by President Ford October 15, increased the training entitlement for thousands of veterans who have not reached their 10-year delimiting date, Welch said.

Effective Oct. 1, 1976, the law extended entitlement to 45 months for veterans if they have served at least 18 months on continuous active duty after Jan. 31, 1965.

Previously, basic entitlement was 36 months. An additional nine months was available only if the G. I. Bill student was pursuing an undergraduate college degree. Unchanged is the 10-year delimiting date. Veterans retain eligibility for 10 years after release from active duty or until Dec. 31, 1989, whichever is earlier, Welch explained.

The new law also provided an 8% increase in monthly allowances for all training offered by the G. I. Bill, except flight training, effective Oct. 1, 1976.

A single veteran attending school full time receives $292 monthly. If the student has one dependent, the rate is $347; two dependents, $396. For each additional dependent, the monthly rate is increased by $24. Entitlement for correspondence training is charged at the rate of one month for each $292 paid. Entitlement for flight training was continued at the rate of one month for each $270 paid.

School board oks French experiment

ALBANY — The Albany Board of Education has given its approval to continue plans for an "experiment in international living" for Albany High School French language students.

The board, meeting last Tuesday, authorized French teacher Patricia Moore to go forward with plans to raise money privately to send her classes on a two-week "field trip" to France next spring.

The students will travel under the auspices of an organization called "Experiment in International Living," based in Brattleboro, Vt., according to Assistant Superintendent Richard Rosenquist.

Tuesday's board meeting was essentially an informational one, focusing on the district's curriculum development. Superintendent Charles McCully discussed five particular educational programs for the board's information. No actions were taken by the board on them.

The programs were: the K-5 geography skills, corrective reading, K-8 mathematics, health education, and the Middle School curriculum.

Dr. McCully discussed plans for the federal public works act application. He said efforts will be concentrated on getting federal funding for the remodeling of the high school including refinishing the gymnasium floor, and possibly building a new library.

How to save gas and money, and get a bonus for doing it.

If you get a pilotless gas range, you can get this spice rack, free.

We're not encouraging you to buy a new gas range. But if you do, we want you to know that many manufacturers are offering pilotless ignition models.

The advantage is easy to see. Forty percent of the gas used by a conventional gas range is just to keep the pilot operating 24 hours a day. But a pilotless range can save that 40% so you'll save precious gas energy, and money, too.

If you buy a pilotless ignition gas range from a "We Care" dealer between now and November 30, your dealer will hand you a spice rack and set of 12 spices with a retail value of $12.95.

This program is sponsored by the Electric & Gas Industries Association, as part of a campaign to conserve energy, and PG&E is proud to be part of it.

So, if you need a new gas range, don't buy just any model. Get one with a pilotless ignition—it really saves energy.

BAAPCD applications due this Friday

The Personnel Committee of the Board of Directors, Bay Area Air Pollution Control District, will accept applications for appointment to membership on the District's Advisory Council through Friday. The 20-member Advisory Council advises and consults with the Board of Directors and the Air Pollution Control Officer in the development of policies and regulations. Advisory Council members are not paid any salary, but receive necessary expenses. California law requires that members of the Advisory Council be appointed for two year terms by the Board of Directors.

The terms of the present members expire on January 1, 1977 and the Personnel Committee has advised them to apply in writing if they wish reappointment. Committee Chairman, Supervisor Tom Bates of Alameda County, stated that it is the Committee's intention to interview all applicants for appointment and has set aside three days, November 11, 12 and 15 for that purpose.

California law also requires that the Advisory Council consist of 20 members, "preferably skilled and experienced in the field of air pollution," and drawn from specified occupational fields. These include at least three representatives of public health agencies, at least four representatives of private organization active in conservation or protection of the environment, and at least one representative of colleges or universities within the state.

One representative should also come from each of these groups within the Bay Area: a regional park district, a park and recreation commission or equivalent agency, a public mass transit system, from agriculture, industry, community planning, transportation, registered professional engineers, general and contractors, architects and organized labor. Persons wishing to apply for appointment should send a resume including an indication of which category the applicant would fill. Address Mabel Harder, Secretary to the Board of Directors, 939 Ellis Street, San Francisco, CA 94109.

A surprise wedding reception was given for newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dempster on Saturday, Oct. 30, at the Ivy Room on Solano and San Pablo avenues.

The new Mrs. Pat Dempster is well known to Albatians as Pat George, Albany City Clerk.

The reception was given by Loretta Davis and Donna Sagers. Ruth Eltingoff was hostess for the 150 guests. Among those attending the afternoon affair were the brides three daughters and two sons-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dupont of Albany, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Lennert of Pittsburg and Jane Faria of Albany.

Live music was provided by "Piano Joe" who appears on Saturday nights at the Ivy Room.

"Eyesopen," the six week series on the art and enjoyment of film, continues next Tuesday evening at the Albany Library, 1216 Solano Ave., beginning at 7:30 p.m., and will focus on performance in film.

The introductory film will illustrate styles and approaches to film acting with excerpts from "The Gold Rush" (Charlie Chaplin), "Summertime" (Katherine Hepburn), "Richard III" (Laurence Olivier), and "La Strada" (Anthony Quinn and Giulietta Masina).

Following this film, four films from the County Library's extensive collection will further illustrate the theme of performance. "Fatal Glass of Beer," a hilarious comedy starring W.C. Fields, "One Night Men Are Kings," an Academy Award winning comedy, touched with pathos, "No Lies," an award-winning, penetrating study of a young woman's reactions to her recent rape, and "Stringbean," a hilariously wistful little masterpiece featuring a marvelous performance by a wispy woman who cultivates a potted string bean plant with devotion akin to love.

The public is cordially invited to attend. Space is limited, so come early.

People's Platform Planks Proposed

BERKELEY — World Community Day, annually sponsored by Church Women United in 2000 communities throughout the U.S.A., will be celebrated by the Berkeley-Albany Unit on Friday, at First Congregational Church, Durant and Dana Streets.

Members with their families and friends are invited to this special program and pot luck supper beginning at 6 p.m.

A general Bicentennial theme for 1976 is: "Into the Third Century — Unafraid," which focuses on the complexities involved in achieving and preserving freedom, liberty and justice in the interdependent world of today.

World Community Day will climax a year long process during which local units of Church Women United have been holding forums to formulate "planks" for a "People's Platform for a Just Global Society."

Included are issues concerned with education, health and welfare, hunger, poverty and disaster relief, inflation, unemployment, tax reforms, crime, courts and prisons, peace and armaments, prejudice and discrimination, pollution, housing — problems of justice and equity and the quality of life.

Review boards from local through state to national level of Church Women United will evaluate the plank proposals and select those of merit for a general agreement for presentation to the newly elected president of the United States in January 1977.

Mailbag

In reading the charges made by Mr. Genova and Mr. Griffin, and Mr. Griffin's reply to same, one wonders just who is Mr. Genova and what is his real motive in putting the citizens of Albany to the expense of a recall and special election? I would hope that anyone who considers his charges valid reasons for recall will insist on proof before signing his petition.

AGNES MOORE

California's messy — and aging messier! Our 1972 Amendment to the Equal Rights Amendment is responsible.

The worst area is that of family—which is fast appearing as an integral, meaningful unit. The husband is no longer a legal head, his home no longer necessarily the legal residence of the family. The state is every organization that have a head to function effectively, the state is actually taking over the family.

The new equal-rights amendment support law is submitted to state-established centers geared primarily to husband and wife training jobs. Applicable to both beginning in the state in unprecedented legal action to control the life of all married persons.

Thousands of millions of dollars are going into state centers to fill the gaps in the home, with commendations for government child care for all families, regardless of income. Thus, the state is increasingly arrogates to it the rights and responsibilities of parents — at the taxpayers' expense.

Rockefeller money has marked California as the "equal rights" prototype for nation. We Californians are having an awesome freedom for an uncontrolled government, we have no choice but to let state legislators who remind our ill-advised ratification.

The dangerous amendment passed, may provide equality of rights under the law, but those remaining to us, all equal, will be to very end of enduring value. The whole mess is being entered.

Toy recycling offers rebate

A new concept in recycling — a redistribution center for toys, games, and children's books — is now underway in Berkeley.

"Toy-Go-Round", created by two East Bay women, takes quality used toys and books on consignment and returns a 50 percent cash rebate to the owner. The result is an outlet for unwanted or outgrown toys and a place to buy toys at greatly reduced prices.

Toy-Go-Round also has new handcrafted toys and unique and inexpensive arts and crafts materials. Toy-Go-Round founders Joy Ernst and Andora Freeman have assembled discarded items and turned them into useable craft items for children. Joy Ernst says that, "As a parent of young children I have been looking for a place to buy inexpensive arts and crafts materials such as woodscraps to glue and nail, collage materials, playdough and paints.

For $1.00 at Toy-Go-Round a bag of pine woodscraps, a bag of pre-schooler sized nails and a tub of homemade playdough can be purchased. For 60 cents a colorful chunk of washable sidewalk chalk, a package of colored paper, and a container of fingerprint are available. Recycled computer paper and cards for painting and drawing are on hand for 10 cents and 5 cents.

"Toy-Go-Round is geared to save money and resources and promote a climate of recycling", according to Andora Freeman. "In addition to the toys, games and books for sale, we have craft ideas, recipes and instructions for homemade games and art materials to aid parents and children in creative activities."

Located at 1715-B Solano Avenue in Berkeley, Toy-Go-Round is open from noon to 5:30 on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

the Week. Crouse gained over 300 yards rushing against Harry Ellis while Young scored two touchdowns, rushed for over 100 yards and caught three passes in a win over St. Mary's. With the players are coaches Tom Pearce (BHS assistant) and Dan Shaughnessy respectively. —I-G PHOTOS

Crouse's record romp honored

By STEVE KENNEDY
I-G Sports Writer

Ray Crouse had a run-back dream when he rushed 340 yards against Harry Ellis last week.

It took him just 19 carries to break Stan Murphy's school record, set in 1966 when the Jackets were 9-0. Murphy ran for 312 yards that afternoon against Pacific.

Playing his first game at tailback, Crouse annihilated Harry Ellis' defense in a 14-0 victory. He scored three touchdowns — on runs of 41, 41 and 66 yards. And he had other runs of 19, 14, 45 and 45 yards.

The big plays were not deceiving. He took a pitch from quarterback Jeff Ransom, headed outside on a sweep and then cut upfield. The Falcon pursuit simply could not keep up with them after he made his cut.

On the first touchdown, Ellis made the mistake of having just 10 men on the field. The Falcons soon found out that 11 were not enough. For his efforts, Crouse was named the I-G's metropolitan prep of the week.

"We felt the one thing we had to do was shut off their passing game and we did that very effectively," said Harry Ellis coach Lou Guida. Unfortunately for the Falcons, that gave Crouse his first opportunity to show his stuff.

Berkeley coach John Martinez used Crouse at tailback because regular Clarence Jackson was hurt. Before that Crouse was playing at fullback for the Jackets.

In fact, Crouse began the season as a runner for Encinal. But after two games, he transferred to Berkeley and, by season's end, may be the RBAL's top rusher.

Crouse is also the Jackets' starting middle linebacker. "Since he was going both ways," said Martinez, "he was running out of gas or he could have broken it, it was a couple of other times."

As to Crouse's phenomenal season, Martinez went along with Guida's theory: "They were blitzing us and we were sealing off," said Martinez. "They were concerned about our passing game."

Of Crouse's 340 yards, 234 came in the second half. In fact, of his 10 carries before intermission, only one — the 79-yarder — went for over eight yards.

"In the first half," he explained, "we had to get used to the defense. After that, I think we improved a little bit on our blocking techniques. I think if I went just on offense, I could have had a lot more."

Crouse, who had 225 yards against San Leandro last year, stands about 5-11, 185 pounds. He runs with his head and shoulders and probably is the first good power back in Martinez' five-year regime.

Merry Jax Athletes of week named JV's drop one 40 to 7

Randy Felix's 243 third game and 608 series sparked Merry Jax to a 22 to 3 win over Team Eleven and at least temporary possession of first place in the 915 Major League at Albany Bowl.

The Merry Jax success produced a one point margin over Oaks Card Club, 21-4 winners over Team Ten behind Willie Richey's 572 series.

Meanwhile, the prior leaders, Norm Curtis' Team One, suffered a 21-4 licking by Solano Club and fell to fourth place. Solano Club made good use of Art Lane's 245-627 and Ron Aquino's 623. The losers got a 256 game and 597 series from Bill Yokayama.

Best game and series of the night were offered by George Schaber, who's 259-637, supported by Leon Brooks' 614, led Diablo Bowling Supply 16 to 9 over Associated Coin Amusements.

Roland Enterprises increased their first place cushion in the 870 Commercial loop to 2 1/2 games by winning two, deadlocking one against Mary & Joe's while Parkway Meats were using Ralph Butler's 603 series to move into a tie for second with E & C Offset Printing.

Sue Cook dominated action in the Majorettes League, opening her 583 set with a 214 game. Godria Throver was next with 218-564, and Norma McGee had 552.

Blue Dolphins padded their first place advantage to two games in the Woodstackers League by beating Berkeley Unified Travel 2-1. The league's best individual performance was compiled by Larry Glenn, who recovered from a 142 first game to shoot 219 and 212 for 573 total. Ernie Reyes had 551.

The Homesteaders, oldest housewives league in the county, got a best of 537 by Audrey Tast, and Carol Shoope paced Berkeley Firemen's Wives with 523.

Gridders get into girdles

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — The girdle L., that promise to prevent midriff bulge, give gridding figures and smooth you into a woman's natural shape are quite familiar.

Four girdle-enthusiasts in Stillwater don't squeeze into the woman's undergarments for all those reasons.

The four are members of the Oklahoma State University football team.

Daily Oklahoma sports columnist Bob Hurt disclosed in a column for Thursday's editions that Terry Miller, Oklahoma State's hard-running halfback, wears a Playtex long leg panty girdle.

No, Miller doesn't wear the garment for television commercials, like Joe Namath and his panty hose. He wears it in practices and in games, and says it helps prevent injuries.

The girdle guards against hamstrings by keeping Miller's muscles from knotting, applying equal pressure and support to all his muscles from the kneecaps to the waist.

It was learned that girdles first entered the team's lockerroom about a year ago, at the suggestion of Dr. Don Cooper, team physician.

Miller said three of his teammates also wear the girdles, but Hurt reported he withheld their names "until the next of kin could be notified."

Trainer Jeff Fair buys the girdles — the extra large size — at a department store.

"We had a few snickers when they first put them on, but the whole idea was to give even support," said Fair. "You can do it better with the girdle than in wrapping the leg."

The Cowboys entertain eighth-ranked Missouri Saturday, but it is unlikely any Tigers snickers will be directed at Miller.

Alta Bates to open art gallery in lobby

Names of many Bay Area artists will become closely tied when Alta Bates Hospital opens a new art gallery on Nov. 3 in a major wing of the hospital's main lobby.

An invitational party from 5 to 7 p.m. on Nov. 3 will launch the new hospital project on which Mrs. William Picard has been working for many months.

To open the gallery, she has invited leading artists from five participating art associations to show their works, and they represent some of the best known in the area.

The first show will run for six months, from Nov. 3 through Jan. 3, and will be viewed by patients and visitors as well as people of the community. Thereafter, a new showcase for artists will house shows developed by the individual associations. Each will display the work of gifted artists for a two-months period.

The premiere show of the gallery will display the works of such outstanding artists as Peter Blos and Peter Shoemaker of Berkeley, Stella Epperson, Virginia Dorn and Don Osterloh of Orinda, Avis De Monte, Maxfield and Allen of Walnut Creek, Eleanor Dickinson of San Francisco, and Jason Schoener of Oakland, plus many more from the Bay Area.

Each of the five participating associations has a representative on the gallery committee. They are: Oakland Art Association, Flora North; East Bay Artists, Wanda MacDonald; California College of Arts and Crafts, Jason Schoener; San Francisco Women Artists, Virginia Dorn, and Oakland Museum Collectors' Gallery, Phyllis Weaver. Richard Dunn, of the Center of Visual Arts, also will be working with the gallery.

The gallery received its initial financial impetus from a "start-up" gift from Mrs. Adolphus E. Graupner, Jr., augmented by a second generous gift from Mrs. Frederick G. Novy Jr.
